INSANE WHEN HE SLEW WHITE

Thaw Not Responsible For the Deed, Testifies Another Expert.

VENTURES OPINION AT TRIAL

Serious Clash Between Jerome and Delmas a Feature of the Session. Attorney Hummel Said to Have Turned Over Evelyn's Affidavit. Review of the Proceedings.

New York, Feb. 13.-Dr. Britton Evans, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Morris Plains, N. J., was a witness for the defense in the Thaw case. He testi fled that he was of the opinion that Harry Thaw was insane at the time of the tragedy. He had been called upon to answer a long hypothetical question in which reference had been made to "a serious if not a capital operation" upon Miss Nesbit, when a storm broke between the counsel.

Attorney Delphin Delmas took exceptions to certain statements of District Attorney Jerome, and had inserted in the record of the case a protest against "the misconduct of the learned district attorney." Mr. Jerome hotly accused the defendant's counsel of trying to instill into the minds of the jury the implied suggestion that the operation performed upon Evelyn Nesbit in 1903, before Thaw took her to Europe, was "of a criminal nature," when, "as a matter of fact," he said, "It was for appendicitis."

Justice Fitzgerald did not rule out any of the district attorney's remarks before the jury, and Mr. Delmas took care to have every exception he made "seriously noted." Mr. Jerome won his point and the words "serious if not capital," as defining the operation, were withdrawn by Attorney Delmas. During the tilt Mr. Delmas inquired of the district attorney as to how he came into possession of knowledge as to the character of the operation upon Miss Nesbit without a violation of a confidence. Mr. Jerome said he had been told of it by Miss Nesbit's moth It thus became known for the first time that the district attorney is in possession of a long statement by Mrs. Holman, who now is in Pittsburg, but who, it has been reported, might be called as a witness by the state in rebuttal.

Dr. Evans was by far the most satisfactory expert witness for the defense so far produced. He detailed to the jury his observations and examinations of Harry Thaw during eight visits to the prisoner in the Tombs. and declared it to be his opinion that Thaw was suffering from "a brain storm or an explosive or fulminating condition of mental unsoundness" at the time he shot and killed Stanford White. Dr. Evans declared that the mental explosion which had induced Thaw to kill Stanford White had left its traces upon the defendant when he first visited him. He said Thaw exhibited symptoms of paranola and adolescent insanity. The first was indicated by his exaltation, his "exaggerated ego"-the idea of his supreme importance. The adolescent insanity was due to heredity, and is characteristic to the development period of life. Dr. Evans declared Thaw's mind had slipped its moorings and was like a ship without a rudder in a windstorm. Ordeals of stress had added their work to the psychopathic taint which came from heredity. Dr. Evans declared that as a result of his first three visits to Thaw following the tragedy he was convinced that the man was of unsound mind. As the result of his last visits he found that, white still suffering from a somewhat exaggerated opinion of self-importance, he was much improved. The Improvement was not stationary during this time, he sain, but progressive. This testimony was brought out in line with the contention of the defense that while Thaw was insane prior to and at the time and immediately subsequent to the homicide, he has improved to a sound condition of mentality following the removal of the cause of stress.

The famous affidavit in which Eve lyn Nesbit charged that she had suffered the grossest cruelties at the hands of Harry K. Thaw is said to be in the hands of the district attorney. Contrary to the belief of the young witness that it had been destroyed in her presence, it had been jealously guarded by Attorney A. H. Hummel, who, after a secret conference with the prosecutor, turned it over to him. This is regarded as the greatest piece of evidence in the possession of the state. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw testified that the accusations were conjured in Hummel's brain and that she was forced to sign the paper at the dictation of Stanford White. The lawyer declares her sworn statement was false in every particular, and has volunteered to turn over to Mr. Jerome witnesses who will swear that after Evelyn Neshif left Thaw in Paris and returned to New York, that, instead of the architect pursuing her, she threw herself into his arms and voluntarily went to Mr. Hummel's office and had him draw the damaging paper against the man who later became her husband.

According to Green's account of the incidents of the night of Aug. 13, he did not sleep well and was awake when the first shot was fired. His room was in the building occupied by Company D, and located on the side next to the town. He said he rose in bed and saw the firing, and that it was apparent to him that an attack was being made on the garrison. After that he dressed and assumed his duty upon the call to arms being sounded.
